SJE-Rhombus® ...Your Preferred Partner from Product Concept To Manufacturing

Concept

SJE-Rhombus utilizes our multiple company resources to develop a custom control solution for you. When working with SJE-Rhombus, a new product design begins by listening to the customer's needs to determine product definition and functionality.

Design

Based on a collaborative process, our engineers work with you to develop a detailed product specification, which includes basic design and operation.

Manufacture

When prototypes meet specifications and obtain customer approval, the product moves into the manufacturing process, which includes developing bill of materials, documentation of assembly drawings and procedures, products are submitted for agency approvals, and overlays and tooling are finalized.

Prototype

Once the initial design is accepted, the prototype process begins by building and testing pre-production units. Improvements discovered during the prototype phase are incorporated into the product design and we prepare for production.
